Conspiracy Trial.

New York, Dec. 7—United States Altoragy Snowden Marshall declared today that Franz Von Eintelen, the Herman agent, who is accused of coming to this county to incite strikers in munition factories, armed with a large corruption fund, was "double trossed" by the labor men he tried to corrupt and despite the expenditure of exercial hundred thousand dollars, failed to accomptish his mission in any effective manner. Mr. Marshall sailing to the stand taken by high officials in labor organizations.

"Hintelen only succeeded in corrupting some subordinates," Mr. Marshall said, "and he was beautifully double crossed. The real labor leading to the strikes he did instigate were quickly killed by the good men at the fact of the protherhood of the Central Congressional church held its week jome of his efforts was successful and all the strikes he did instigate were quickly killed by the good men at the fact of the protherhood of the Central congressional church held its week jome of his efforts was successful and all the strikes he did instigate were quickly killed by the good men at the head of unions. TABLE TALK COMMERCIAL CLUB.

The latest fad among the business

The latest fad among the business men is a noon-day golf club. Dr. Loveland, Judge Yates and Fred Goodcich head a club of golf enthusiasts who eat a hurry-up lunch at noon, motor to the golf course, "shoot" nine holes and return to their afternoon work. Ordinarily, in December the members of such a club would have to be content with swinging a club rover a radiator, but with the kind of weather that has prevailed for the last week, golf is just as much of a sport as it was in September.

New Orleans, Dec. 7.—Dr. Bradford Knapp of the United States department of agriculture in his address on "Safe Farming" before the cotton states bankers conference today, declared the one-crop system as "unsafe and unsound, and the marvel is that the south has come thus far without overpowering disaster."

The telephone rang in Commissioner ev. L. Porter's office this morning and that official turned to it. He listened attentively then hung up the receiver with a bang.

"Mad dog at 313 Branner street," he exclaimed.

Turning to Ciyde Tresuer as he hanted his overcoat and gloves, he shouted:

"Get somebody and come, Ciyde. There's another mad dog down on the bount overpowering disaster."

The southern farmers, he asserted, have not become rich and prosperous because the system has been against the "One-Crop" System.

Bank Robbery.

"Where's the mad dog?" he demanded of a woman at the back door.
"Out there in a crate," was the Sedan Court.

"Out there in a crate," was the reply.

And there in a big crate was a mite of a white dog. Besides being crated he was tied with a rope. Out of the tangle he looked at Commissioner Porter with a friendly eye and as best he could wagged his tail. Porter lifted the crate and disentangled the rope. The little dog frisked about his feet and made friends with him instantly, He didn't look like a mad dog and didn't act like one, so Porter carried him out to the car and brought him to the city building to protect him from further slander. Parsons is in an awful mess concerning her municipal politics, according to John Madden, jr., a Parsons lawyer. The recent crusade against city officials of Parsons has aroused the town, he says, and there is a dandy political row in view as a result of the mix-up.

"If things are not broned out, Labette county will elect more Democrats to office next year than at any time in the history of the county," Madden told the state house friends today. "I am a staunch Republican, but there isn't any use of dodging the facts. The recent troubles down there have certainly stirred up the local leaders and either side that is beaten in the primaries will carry its fight to the Sixth Avenue Viaduct Will Be Restored by May 1.

City officials are resting easy with reference to the East Sixth street viaduct matter. They are confident that by the first of May the viaduct will again be in condition to be used by street cars and vehicles. The Topeka Sireet Railway company, the Santa Fe and the Missouri Pacific Railway companies have agreed to repair the structure and are having the plans made to that end. When they are completed they will be submitted to the city commission for its approval and work will then begin.

The Topeka Railway company is particularly anxious to have the work gone. It is having to transfer its Oakland passengers by automobile while the viaduct is out of commission. And this company appears to have more influence with the two railway companies than has the city commission.
